CLiF Two-Sentence Story Contest

I love the fresh air and being outside with my sister and dad. When we tap the trees I love getting the sap in my mouth.

I lov to Play Basbo
with my dad in my back Yord. I am Prac+ising ceding but I am a good batn and I can hit the
bol in the sky!

I love music, how the rhythm flows through my ears like waves
crashing on the sea shore. The beat moves through my body and makes me want to dance.

My Kitty Linda Shows me she loves me when she rubs against my legs each night.
She loves when I bribe her with treats.

Using only TWO SENTENCES, tell us a love story...

This story can be about absolutely anything that you love. It can be about something you love to do. It can be about someone you love spending time with: a relative, close friend, or even a pet. It can be about a special memory you love to think back on.

The only rules are the story has to be by you, and you have only two sentences to tell it.

I hop out of the car, practically trampling my sister, the cool salty air is so refreshing on my hot face, and the waves crashing on the shore are beautiful. I walk up to the water, my toes wiggle in the sparkly sand, the glistening water gives me a feeling of joy and I dive into the ocean.

MY BROTHER

Lives with me yet sometimes in a world of his own with trucks bigger than skyscrapers and lego firefighters sprouting up and blanketing the room.

Mountains of candy lollipops, starbursts and all covering the couches while trying not to fall.

As the music gets louder, I feel prouder as I move my feet to the beat; I am unstoppable. I love myself: blond hair, blue eyes, and a bright smile that is full of rhythm.

I love baseball with the warm sun shining on my face and the feeling of being outside, but what I love best is playing in the rain when it cools me down on a hot day. I love pitching a baseball with raindrops running down my face like a sprinkler softly spritzing me.

The Feeling OF a Run

Everytime her spikes stepped on the lane she felt anxious. As soon as the race began, her competitive energy kicked in, And she sprinted towards the end.
